Colossians: Robertson's Notes John Robertson

New converts were made in Colossae and Laodicea by the work of Epaphras. These new converts faced battles with false teachers and works of the flesh. Many had given up the way of truth for other men's convictions and personal opinions. Others were sliding back into the immoral practices of their past. Paul warns the Colossian church to not permit the philosophy and traditions of men to make spoil of their faith. Asceticism, Judaism, Gnosticism, worship of angels, and human traditions of all sorts were mingled with the gospel message so that truth lost its distinctiveness. Paul teaches the Colossians that Christ's preeminent authority has no boundaries in man's life. All are subject to Christ's laws no matter if we are at church, home among family members, school, government, playing, or out in the work force. Let all, "Set your mind on the things that are above, not on the things that are upon the earth" (Colossians 3:2).
